Dark Man

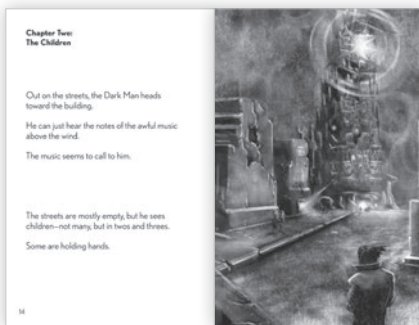

Low-Level Graphic Novels

RL: 1.0 to 3.0 | Grades: 5 to 8, 9 to 12, YA | Lexile: 380 to 670

The first six titles in the Dark Man series are 36-page books designed for young adult struggling readers and nonreaders who probably have never successfully managed to read a book. The second six titles are 48-page books with a slight degree of progression over the first six and offering a more challenging read. The final set of 48-page titles (Yellow Series) continue the Dark Man's quest to destroy the evil Shadow Masters.

The story text is short and simple but not patronizing. Stories are gritty, full of tension and mystery. The language is terse. The Dark Man is a serious comic hero with his own mythology. Each book is a self-contained story, but each story is a part of a greater whole.

The twelve books can be read in any order. The first six stories (orange) range from 220 to 420 words. The Green and Yellow Series are 1000 words each.

My New Normal™

About the Author

Sara Michelle

As a high school student, I love this time in my life and plan to live it up while doing what I used to believe was impossible, writing and publishing books. One day I'd love to get my PhD in psychology—and in a parallel universe, I'd love to be an actor. My favorite food is ice cream; I could honestly live off of it 24/7. My friends mean the world to me, and I'd be absolutely nowhere without my large, crazy family. I can't wait to see what life has to offer, and I plan on enjoying every minute of it!

Reviews

VOYA, "Young readers who may not be able to tackle the vocabulary and complexities of Suzanne Collins's The Hunger Games may find this series an adequate substitute."

The Aftermath: Book 1

From what we've calculated, it's been seven days since The End. We don't really have a more suitable name for it. There was absolutely no warning. It was three days after Christmas. We were alone and scared. Nobody expected the theories and stories to actually come true. After 2012 passed with no strange activity, the whole idea of the apocalypse seemed like rubbish. But we were proven terribly wrong. Nostradamus got it right after all.

The Inside: Book 2

This situation was way out of my control. I was willing to give up anything to go back to the way things were before . . . I tried my best to comfort and reassure Cecilia that somehow everything would be okay. But I really couldn't be convincing when I could barely convince myself. We were walking into an unknown world. A world without leadership. No government. No medicine. No transportation. No food except what we could grow . . . or kill. It was going to be mass chaos.

Paperback; SE7719-W4 $8.95

The Others: Book 3

When we opened the door, the screaming continued. Ryan grabbed the lamp. I was honestly terrified. I knew Ryan was too because when I grabbed his hand, it was shaking. If you think rationally, it was ridiculous for teenagers to deal with this kind of threat. We'd already witnessed the world falling to pieces. We'd lost everyone and everything we loved. We'd both been dreadfully ill. Who knew what was going to hit us next?

Paperback; SE7727-W4 $8.95

The Outside: Book 4

In the end, we agreed that we would be heading north toward LoDo: the Lower Downtown Historic District. Cecilia and I had arrived at the shelter from the south, so I had no idea what to expect in LoDo. But by traveling this way, we would pass by some of the richer suburbs, like Cherry Hills Village. The weather had been pretty good, but it was still the middle of winter on the Front Range.

Paperback; SE7840-W4 $8.95

The Beginning: Book 5

It took me a few seconds after seeing Jason to comprehend that it was the Jason standing there. I then realized that Jesska had absolutely no idea who Jason was or the potential danger we were in. Forget potential. We were in danger. Jason had promised that he would be back, and unfortunately, it looked like he kept his promises. Just my luck. If this was war, my chances were slim to none.

Differentiated Classics

Adapted Classics at Two Low Levels

RL: 1.0 to 2.0 | Grades: 5 to 8, 9 to 12, YA

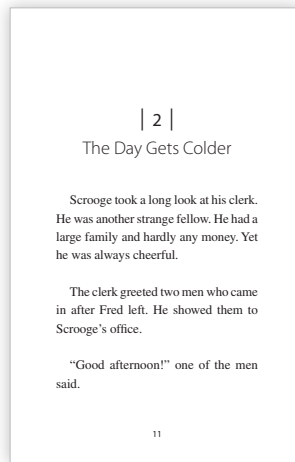

We've taken our Timeless Classics and Shakespeare and made them even more accessible. Words and phrases that may have stumped emergent readers have been eliminated. We recognize that students in the same classroom may not have equivalent reading skills, which is why the two levels appear virtually identical—on the outside. Inside it's a whole different look, with a larger font and extra white space, making these stories visually appealing with the aim to improve reading comprehension, fluency, and confidence. Classic fiction is 80 pages and classic Shakespeare is 110 pages.

Common Core Skills & Strategies for Reading

Aligned to the Specific CCSS Strands

RL: 3.0 to 8.0 | Grades: 3 to 12

The Common Core State Standards (CCSS) provide a consistent, clear understanding of what students are expected to learn. Aligning each lesson in these six Common Core titles to the CCSS ensures that students are being taught and assessed on what they are expected to learn and know. The alignment helps educators think critically about their curriculum, instruction, and assessments as they work to ensure that their students meet the rigorous new standards.

Beginning with foundational skills, the activities teach students what they need to learn. The alignments offer a progressive development of reading comprehension skills so that students advancing through the levels are able to gain more from whatever they read. Each title includes a table of contents, a CCSS alignment chart, 130 reproducible lessons individually aligned to the CCSS (each lesson contains a discrete alignment at the bottom of the page), a scope and sequence chart, and an answer key.

100 Reproducible Activities in Each Book

RL: 3.0 to 4.0 | Grades: 5 to 12, ELL

Students suffer from a knowledge deficit. Students only exposed to fiction will lack the necessary background and vocabulary to understand history and science texts. But reading nonfiction can be difficult. Nonfiction does not follow the predictable structure of fiction stories and often contains tricky vocabulary and new concepts. Most reading after high school is nonfiction reading. Students will develop skills and strategies for navigating nonfiction and understanding its organization and structure with manageable two-page activities.

Lifeskills Vocabulary 1 & 2

100 Reproducible Activities in Each Book

RL: 3.0 to 8.0 | Grades: 3 to Adult, ELL

Visit any classroom and you will encounter students with a variety of goals, and not everyone approaches education with the same goal. For some students, school is a direct path to the real world. But many schools don't teach their students functional literacy or how to deal with the basic issues they will encounter in everyday life: preparing a résumé, applying for a job, opening a bank account, getting out of debt, understanding credit, and more. These functional words are learned in context with manageable one-page activities.

Each book includes a CD, which contains a complete electronic version of the reproducible as an "Unlocked PDF." Unlocked PDFs allow users to copy/paste text and certain images for posting, emailing, projecting on a whiteboard, and more.

The 21st Century Coach® attempts to bridge the gap between coursework and real work by focusing on real-world skills and applications. In order to thrive in the 21st century digital economy, students will need certain proficiencies within the context of rigorous academic standards. Each resource book focuses on one of the three categories listed in the Partnership for 21st Century Skills: Learning and Innovation Skills; Information, Media, and Technology Skills; Life and Career Skills. The reproducible activities and lessons in this three-book series will prepare students for success in the 21st century by giving them the skills and knowledge they will need as citizens, workers, and leaders after high school.

Features

- Three 104-page Teacher Resource Books each containing 36 lessons, which allows for pacing based on 36 weeks of instruction.
- Teach to your student demographics: Choose from three pacing “tracks.” Each track leads with one book based on the students’ needs, and integrates lessons from the other two books, maintaining a once-per-week instruction plan with options for more if needed.
- Teach in 21-minute increments: Each lesson is composed of teaching sections that can be done in “21 minutes or less.” Following an Introduce/Teach/Reflect approach, teachers may instruct the lesson concept in a minimum, 21-minute period.
- Each lesson is two pages—one page of teacher instruction followed by one reproducible Student Activity Sheet.
- To extend class time, teachers may choose from three additional activities, each of which also can be completed within 21 minutes.
- Sixteen skill-specific graphic organizers are at the end of each resource book.

Taking an Inventory of Your Skills

INTRODUCE THINK ABOUT IT Did you know that the things you are good at might be skills that can make you a success in life?

TEACH LISTEN UP! Everyone has skills that make him or her a success in different areas of life. There are many types of skills. Here are several:

- School skills include studying, reading, math, and other learning skills.
- Creative skills include writing, painting, and making music or other art.
- Communication skills include working well with others, clearly explaining your ideas by writing and speaking, and sometimes even helping others resolve conflicts.
- Technology skills include using computers to create, write, and communicate.

It's good to identify your strong skills, and to know the skills you want to develop. Here's how:

- Think about activities in which you do well and that you enjoy.
- Identify the skills a person would require to excel in those activities.
- Do the same for activities in which you would like to excel.

LET'S EXPLORE As a class, develop a list of skills that students have or want to have.

- As students state the skills, ask them to identify which type of skill it is.
- Write the skills on the board under the headings School, Creative, Communications, or Technology. Ask students to identify new headings, if necessary.

TIME FOR Q & A Discover how to gain and improve skills. Select a few interesting skills from the list you created in Let's Explore as the focus of Q & A.

➤ How could someone who has this skill improve on it?
Someone already good at math could improve her skill by doing extra practice problems.

➤ How could someone without this skill gain it?
Someone who wants to be a singer could take singing lessons.

REFLECT How can you use the skills you already have to help you succeed in life?

21st Century Activities ... Each done in under 21 minutes

PRACTICE
Skills Matching
Pairs create a poster that highlights students' skills.

- Students write their names on 2 Index Cards (p. W10). On one card, they write a skill they have; on the other they write a skill they'd like to have.
- Adhere the note cards on butcher paper. Have students locate a pair who has the skill they want to have.
- The pair then discusses how the skill owner gained that skill and lays out goals for the new student to do the same.

Handbooks

Combining practical content with visual appeal, the 21st Century Lifeskills handbooks read more like a magazine than a book. Highly readable with full-color photographs, a smaller trim size (6" x 9"), and an eye-popping layout, these 120-page student handbooks (SH) are great for teaching life skills to a twenty-first century population without the appearance of a textbook. The 10 handbooks in this series will provide readers a thorough and non-threatening introduction to the multi-dimensional competencies, concepts, and vocabulary they need to achieve independence. Used alone or in conjunction with the activity-based 21st Century Lifeskills worktexts, these handbooks offer students a unique and visual way to achieve real-world literacy.

14 THINK GREEN: Recycling

Recycling Methods

Recycling is the key to waste management. Recycling has been common for many years. There are many modern methods of recycling. Some of these are curbside, drop-off centers, buy-back centers, and deposit/refund programs.

Curbside Recycling
Curbside recycling is a method of collecting recyclable materials from houses at the curb. Items are usually set out in large bins, open plastic tubs, or bags. A big truck comes to pick up the items. Curbside recycling is popular in the United States.

Drop-off Centers
Drop-off centers collect recyclable items. These centers are located in public areas. Drop-off centers take paper, newspaper, glass, cans, plastics, garden waste, and other items.

Local Charities
Local charities accept items that can be reused. These items are given to people who need them. Donating items to local charities reduces landfill space and saves energy and resources. People can donate clothes, shoes, and household items.

Recycling Methods

Recycling is the key to waste management. Recycling has been in common practice for many years. In the past, tiny scraps of precious metals were collected and melted for reuse. Wood ash and coal dust were used in brick making. Some modern methods of recycling include curbside, drop-off centers, buy-back centers, and deposit/refund programs.

Curbside Recycling
Curbside recycling is a method of collecting recyclable materials from households at the curb. Local authorities collect these items from households, usually in large bins, open plastic tubs, and bags. Curbside recycling reduces waste and increases recycling rates. It is fast becoming popular in the United States. In 2006, there were about 8,660 curbside programs. Curbside recycling can be of three types:
1. Dual-stream recycling, where residents are asked to place paper in one container and all other recyclables in another
2. Single-stream recycling, where residents commingle all recyclables in the same bin
3. Pay-as-you-throw, where residents are often charged a fee for each bag of trash, but their recyclables are picked up for free

Drop Off Centers
Drop off centers also collect recyclable items. These centers are located in public areas such as schools, shopping centers, parks, and churches. Drop off centers accept paper, newspaper, glass, cans, plastic goods, textiles, garden waste, and electronic items like televisions and computers, plus unwanted furniture. Each center may have rules about what can be accepted.

Local Charities
Local charities also accept items that can be reused. The items donated to local charities are used by people who need them. Donating unwanted items to local charities reduces landfill space plus the energy and resources used in manufacturing new items. People can donate their unwanted clothes, shoes, and household items.

Correlation to Standards

The No Child Left Behind (NCLB) legislative mandates that all states adopt academic standards that identify the skills students will learn in kindergarten through grade 12. While many states had already adopted academic standards prior to NCLB, the legislative act requires states to ensure the standards were detailed and comprehensive. In many states today, teachers are required to demonstrate how their lessons meet state standards. State standards are used in the development of Shell Education products, so educators can be assured that they meet the academic requirements of each state.

Shell Education is committed to producing educational materials that are research and standards based. In this effort, all products are correlated to the academic standards of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the Department of Defense Education Schools. A correlation report customized for your state can be printed directly from the following website: <http://www.shelleducation.com>. If you require assistance in printing correlation reports, please contact Customer Service at 1-877-777-3445.

McREL Compendium

Shell Education uses the Mid-continent Research for Education and Learning (McREL) Compendium to create standards correlations. Each year, McREL analyzes state standards and revises the comp. By following this procedure, they are able to produce a general compilation of nations. The social studies standards on which the texts in this book focus are correlated to state standards <http://www.shelleducation.com>.
