CHAPTER 1

KING TUT'S TOMB

Workers dug for a tomb in Egypt. Howard Carter led the search. He was a scientist. Finding the tomb was his goal.

The first clue Carter found was a stairway. It was in a valley west of the Nile River. Rocks filled the path. Workers cleared the debris. They found a door. Carter cut a hole in it. Then he held up a candle.

The glint of gold was everywhere. Carter had discovered King Tut's tomb. Egypt's boy king was found in 1922.

Tut is short for Tutankhamun. The king died around 1324 BC. He was about 19 years old. King Tut began his rule at age nine. He led for ten years. The king was not well known. But the discovery of his tomb changed that.

DOING WELL IN CLASS

School can be hard. There is so much to learn. But there are many ways to succeed. Even small steps help.

FIRST DAY

Success at school starts on day one. The first day is important. Teachers may give a short talk. It tells what to expect.

Listen carefully. Write down what the teacher says. Learn what to bring. Take note of class rules.

WAYS TO LEARN

Everyone learns in their own way. Some find a class easy. Others find it hard. There are different learning styles too.

The bell rang. Esha Basu stood up. Her science teacher, Mr. Reed, walked over.

"How was your first week?" he asked.

Esha smiled. "Okay. I still get lost here. My school in India was smaller."

"I understand. Give it time," he said. "Have you tried any clubs?"

Esha shook her head.

"Try some explorer clubs. You will love them."

"What are those?" she asked.

"You learn about different jobs. It's a good way to see what you like. We have many clubs. Each week you can pick a new one."

He showed Esha a list. She read it. “There are a lot. How will I choose?”

Mr. Reed smiled. “Start with one you like. Test it out. Then try another. You can do as many as you want.”
