

DARK MAN

THE PAST IS DARK

PETER LANCETT

SADDLEBACK
EDUCATIONAL PUBLISHING

Chapter One: In the Empty Store

The Dark Man stands in a ruined store.

Moonlight streams in where there was once a roof.

The Dark Man is here because he has been told that a Shadow Master was here earlier.

But the store is empty.

Old magazines are scattered around.

The Dark Man knows little about his past,
only that he was once called David.

To the Dark Man, the past is dark.

All he knows is that he must help the Old Man to stop the Shadow Masters.

The Shadow Masters want to ruin the whole city.

When the whole city is rotten, they will make slaves of the people.

The Dark Man thinks hard, trying to remember the time before the Shadow Masters.

The memories do not come.

The glossy cover of a magazine shines in the moonlight.

The Dark Man stoops to pick it up.

On the cover there is a photograph of a large boat.

A sharp pain shoots through the Dark Man's head.

He drops the magazine and puts his hands over his ears, as he falls to his knees.

Chapter Two: Where the Forest Ends

There is a flash of white light, and when the Dark Man opens his eyes, he is no longer in the ruined store.

